Foreword . . .

What is a college? What is a student? What is Plattsburgh? An institution for higher learning . . . meeting new people . . . formulating new ideals . . . lectures in the pit . . . playing in competitive sports . . . painting the fountain . . . joining a fraternity or a sorority . . . the tug of war . . . running the torch for Winter Weedkend . . . participating in extra-curricular activities . . . building floats . . . a quick trip to the Snack Bar . . . making decisions . . . gleaning periodicals and studying references in Feinberg Library . . . lesson plans . . . class blazers . . . these could be the answers . . . And it is something more; it is an intangible substance that the authors of this yearbook cannot quite name. So it is that we present to you the heart and soul of our college, a pictorial review of the 1962-63 school year, and leave the answer to the question, "What is Plattsburgh?", where it should be, in your hands.

Words cannot adequately express the loss of Dr. Edward Dreschler. A member of our science department, he was admired and respected by all who knew him. His great ability to understand and willingness to help were only a few of his many fine characteristics. They will not soon be forgotten. His example as a teacher and friend is a fine goal which we as future teachers should strive to attain.

We the Cardinal Staff wish to give you a preview of our growth with a look at our college as it is today. As Dr. Angell points the way to the next step in our growth, we take note of the proposed Science and Math Building. Our heartfelt thanks and appreciation goes to the members of our faculty and administration who have so diligently and unselfishly given of their time and efforts to further our expansion.

In "Taking A Closer Look" at what our college is today, we may better see what we are to become tomorrow.

One of the most noteworthy changes that we have seen is the introduction of liberal arts to our curriculum. We at Plattsburgh are ever increasing the variety of intellectual experiences as we broaden our subject areas. Upon the advice of the various department chairmen the multitudinous task of co-ordinating the educational and liberal arts program falls on the capable and experienced shoulders of Dean Lawrence.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics program, in helping with the progressive trend in college growth, is in the process of altering its curriculum to provide further opportunities for gaining the appreciation, knowledge, understanding and skills that are needed for the fulfillment of all family members. With the excellent liberal and technical background provided here at Plattsburgh, a Home Economics student is well equipped to take her important place in the community as a teacher, planner, helper and friend to all.

In supplementing this program the Home Economics Club provides additional opportunities for students to increase their abilities, perfect their skills, try new techniques, and to gain a variety of new experiences. Two of the club's most well known projects include the annual Christmas Team and a Spring fashion show. Community projects, such as working with the children's home, are one phase of the home economists' work in the community. Professional lectures also broaden and deepen the students' background.

Early Childhood Club

Association for Childhood Education International, the Early Childhood Club on campus, began its 1962-63 year with a "Get Acquainted" Coffee Hour in the Feinberg Library. The program for the year included a number of speakers, workshops, conferences, and several community projects. These activities served to fulfill the purposes of the organization and to raise the standard of professional preparation.

Students in the Early Childhood program work with children in nursery school, kindergarten, and the primary grades. Emphasis in the program is placed upon the understandings necessary in working with, and teaching the young child.

Delegates

New transportation for all . . .

The House of Delegates, the student governing body of Plattsburgh, is composed of representatives from all organizations and classes. A virtually self-governing organization, the House has a twofold purpose: to act as a policy forming body in aiding the college administration and to act as a clearing house for problems concerning the student body as a whole. Functions of the House are: handling of student funds, assembly programs, organization of various student social functions, and selection of delegates to Eastern States. Meetings of the House are open to all student observers who are interested in seeing their governing body function.

Plattsburgh is fortunate in having a student government which is efficient and is also an accurate reflection of the wishes of the student body.

The publication of Plattsburgh's student literary magazine is awaited each year with great anticipation. The essays, short stories, poems and art work presented, illustrate the caliber of our students' work. Each year reflecting this high caliber, becomes a greater success.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club has as its goal the furthering of World Understanding on our campus and, provides ample opportunity for broadening our horizons. Thus the club has sponsored a tea for our visiting students, and has had discussions on such controversial topics as the Cuban Crisis. In the planning stage is an Intercollegiate Conference on World Affairs along with panels and debates of vital interest to all. The club has a very important place on campus, and has become a successful and ever growing organization.

Fall Production "The Flies"

Opens Tonight

Footlighters Use 'Open Stage' Technique In 'The Flies'

Students Attempt Technique To College Production

The Footlighters, undergraduate drama group at Plattsburgh State University College, will use the "open stage technique" for their fall production of Jean Paul Sartre's "The Flies".

Paul Gray, assistant professor of dramatic art and director of the production, scheduled to be staged Nov. 7-10 in Hawkins Hall auditorium, explained that the audience will be used as an acting area.

Gray noted that such a technique was used in some of the past Footlighters' productions. However, in "The Flies," the set will actually be built out into the audience. Ramps will be constructed up the center aisle of the auditorium and behind the audience, thus limiting the seating capacity to 410 persons a performance.

A golden web with a huge figure representing a statue of Zeus will be arranged above the audience.

Mask-like make-up, designed by William Cook, instructor in English, will represent a highly-unusual effect, according to Gray. The make-up is based on the painter Roult's works. Formal costumes and property designs will also be used.

Gray said that all costumes and properties will be constructed by undergraduates. He reports that more than 50 students are working on the production, and contributing play, Martinsen also designed the costumes for the entire production. In "The Flies" he portrays Orestes, the son who comes back to avenge his father's murder.

Miss Dragoon, a 1960 graduate of Chazy Central School, is playing the role of Electra, the sister who is an accomplice to her father's murder.

Paul Sartre, is based on the true story of the ancient Greek legend of Orestes. The story hews true to the original, wherein Orestes returns to his homeland after a long exile to behold the disgusting corruption in the royal palace where he finds his father, the king, dead and his mother married to his father's murderer.

Each hour in the library and last semester on Sunday afternoon 100 to 150 people were present but on Saturday afternoons the average number was 15.

In reply to a question about Sunday evening hours, Dr. Breen explained that there are insufficient funds available to keep the library open on Sunday evenings.

November 16, 1962 will feature the appearance of the following: Dr. Cooper, Dr. Lawrence, Dean Frederick B. Tuttle, Dr. J. Stuart McNair, Mrs. Lillian Redcay, Ernst Weiner, Dr. George Yokum, Dr. Marie Banks, Dr. Carl Engelhart, and Dr. Sue Bragdon.

G. Alexander, G. Mole, T. Matthews (Editor), G. Murray, C. Lawler.

the Journeymen, new folk singers and humorists, will appear at the St. John's Academy auditorium. Their appearance, in the form of an 8-10 two hour concert, will be the high-lite of the Clio-DKD weekend. The performance is part of a college tour undertaken by the Journeymen after their initial release of "500 Miles" became a "smash hit."

This event was undertaken by these two organizations as a way of showing that popular entertainers CAN be brought to campus and enjoyed by all those who attend.

Martin Mannix, co-chairman of the weekend, stated: "It is our hope that this weekend will be a tremendous success for all those who attend, and will act as a means of introducing stepping stones from which bigger and better known name stars may be brought to our campus. It is our objective to convince the faculty

Arthur P. Momot, president-elect of the Plattsburgh Alumni Association; Donald Norton, president of the House of Delegates, the student-governing body; and Dr. H. Otis Noyes, professor of English.

College Plans New Campus School Completion Set For September '65

A 21-classroom campus school, estimated cost of which is $2,650,000, is being planned for Plattsburgh State University College.

The two-story structure will front on Rugar Street and will be located in Macomb Park at a point near the proposed South Prospect Avenue by-pass through the Park. Preliminary plans for the building have been completed by the architect, W. Parker Dodge.

Funds for construction of the school, which will house approximately 550 students in nursery school through ninth grade, are expected to be appropriated by the 1963 Legislature, with bids to be advertised in the spring. Target date for completion of construction is September, 1965.

Among the features of the building is a "television program originating center" where cameras, transmitting and monitoring equipment will be housed. A projection room for films, slides, art works and graphics will also be located in this area of the building.

Teaching demonstrations will be presented in the center for viewing by college students majoring in

The Cardinal soccer team went through the '62 season without a win. The reason for their 0-8-1 record seemed to lie in the defense, for while scoring only 5 goals themselves they proceeded to allow the opposition 28, or an average of 3.1 goals per game.

One bright spot, however, was goalie Walt Goedeke, a sophomore from Wantagh, Long Island. Walt made the phenomenal amount of 249 saves in 9 games, or an average of 27.6 saves per game.

—Jim Cleveland a junior from Salem, N.Y., led the Cards in scoring with 4 goals, 2 of them against Oneonta.

The prospects for next season seem a little brighter as only one starting letterman will be lost due to graduation.

Neil Breen takes his favorite jump-shot.

Coach Joe Jastrab's quint started off in high flying style this year. They reached Christmas vacation with a 6-1 record which included a 69-68 thrilling, last second win over New Paltz and a 101-74 romp over Norwich University. The NAIA Dist. No. 31 Christmas Tourney at Montclair State, however, started a reversal. Favored Plattsburgh was knocked off by last year's winner, Pace College, 58-55. This led to a 2-6 slate after vacation and a composite 8-7 record. The Cards have five home games left with the possibility of an invitation to the State University Tourney at Cortland.

Unsung hero — manager Warren Dyke.

Cold Spell

High scoring John Pelkaus gets the jump on his man.

John Pelkaus leads all scorers with a 16.7 point per game average followed by captain Neil Breen's 11.4 average. John is also well on his way to break Irv MacLaren's record of 100 assists in one season. Jim Carperter leads the team in rebounds with an 11.5 per game average.

A lot of help has come from two sophomores, Steve White and Paul Lewis. Steve has come through consistently with both points and rebounds while Paul has come through in such places as the thrilling 86-79 overtime win at Montclair State, in which he scored 8 points in the overtime period.

Tommy Loughan with an easy lay-up.

All right let's go now.

Cheerleaders & Twirlers

With pep, enthusiasm, and spirit, the Cardinal Cheerleaders once again spurred their team toward victory and inspired the spectators to give their full support to the team. The squad under the advisorship of Miss Vought, and captain Marie Barnes increased school spirit, by sponsoring pep rallies, and by their smiling and vivacious presence at all home games.

Coupled with precision, long hours of practice and new uniforms, the half-time performances of the twirlers, have helped raise school spirit at basketball games.

Difficulty in organizing caused a late start for this group, which is composed entirely of new students. However, with the help of Dr. Backus and captain Barbara Pulver, the quality of performances make up for lost time.

It looks like another tough decision for Coach Rangazas.

With a team composed of 6 freshmen, 6 sophomores, 3 juniors and only 2 seniors the Cards came through in fine style this season in spite of their inexperience with college ball.

With the juniors and seniors leading the way, Plattsburgh compiled an overall 7-10 record while placing fifth in the 11-team New York State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference with 4 wins and 6 losses.

There were many bright, but also many discouraging periods throughout the season. On the bright side were the many individual honors won. Outfielder Larry Storrs led the way by making the first all-conference team. He was followed closely by first baseman Gary Barber, second baseman Neil Sesselman, and outfielder Art LaMarch. These men compiled part of the second all-conference team, while pitcher Earl Burnell received honorable mention.

Neil Sesselman ran away with most of the honors, both on his team and in the state. Besides compiling a conference batting average of .514 to place third, he led the conference in doubles and total bases. His big bat boosted the Cards through many games, and as a tribute to a fine season he was elected both team captain and Most Valuable Player for the following season.

The pitching staff seemed to be the key to the whole year's success or failure. At the beginning of the season there were some sparkling performances. Sid Waite started by striking out 5 of 6 in the last two innings of the Castleton game to preserve a comeback 12-10 win. Randy Ellsworth followed with a 2-hitter over Utica. Later Stu

Jim Kline takes a heavy cut during a practice session.

Wirth and Gary Butler teamed up with a no run-5 inning relief job against Brockport for Wirth, and a 1-hitter against Siena for Butler. Then the trouble started for coach Ernie Rangazas' hurlers. In the second Siena game, ten walks were given up by three Cardinal pitchers and, although Siena managed only one hit, they triumphed 4-3. As the year progressed only Earl Burnell became effective as he pitched complete game wins over Geneseo and Oneonta.

With the loss of only two lettermen due to graduation, and with the freshmen and sophomores of last year gaining tremendous experience, coach Rangazas is looking forward to a fine new year.

Golf Team Gains

The newly formed Plattsburgh golf team experienced a trying first year. They played many good matches but due mainly to lack of experience in tournament play they failed to chalk up a win.

The team members were closely matched with no individual stars. Kent Walker was the low medalist at the end of the season, but he was followed closely by Walt Goedeke, John Pelky, and Pete Martin with P. J. Beattie and Rowdie Tamblyn coming on strong at the season's end.

Coach Joe Jastrab has some fall tournaments planned and, with experienced players returning, is looking forward to a better season.

Victories were recorded against Oneonta 19-44 and Paul Smiths 26-29 while the losses came against Oswego 33-22 and Albany 34-21.

Captain Ralph Manners, a freshman, won three of his four regularly scheduled races and finished 16th at the 13th annual cross-country championship meet at Ithaca College. His best time came at Oswego when he ran a 3.1 mile course in 16:24.6.

Special

Yes, we're providing for our students who have outstanding qualities.

Throughout the years we have seen the efforts of many fine persons become a part of our everyday "learnings." On these pages are pictures of just a few happenings. Dr. Redcay has done a tremendous job in his Talented and Honors program. Resources and knowledge is available to all students through Dr. Redcay and his special programs. It is the individual who gives himself in order to obtain the greatest value from these seminars and materials.

A class in the new language laboratory, eagerly learning a days lesson, with the aid of their machinery.

A "bit" of culture in Ward Hall lobby.

Another step to betterment has been taken in the language department with the installation of a new laboratory. Our college is giving us many opportunities for betterment of ourselves and our fellowmen. It is up to us to take advantage of these "new tools" by striving for excellence, and by seeking out those people who can be of the greatest assistance to us.

Just one of many learning tools.

Our Visiting Students

The students of Plattsburgh have a wonderful opportunity in promoting world understanding. This year we are able to share our classes with young men and women from many countries. South America, Europe, and Asia are continents well represented in this program.

As students, we salute our friends for all they have given to us. We are positive that no book or map could teach us as much about their countries. These young ambassadors have been such fine friends and wonderful classmates to us. We hope that Plattsburgh has given them an experience they shall never forget in turn for all they have given to us.

We wish you a safe journey home — remember your Northern friends.

Foster Child

My Fellow Students,

Since 1947 the students of this college have participated, through the House of Delegates, in the Foster Parents' Plan. This is a non-profit organization whose sole intention is to help the impoverished children of foreign countries.

Through this plan you have adopted a little girl, her name is VU THI CUC. Cuc wants to become a teacher, she is a sympathetic and conscientious girl and should make an excellent teacher, if given the opportunity.

Her father used to be a builder, but he was stricken with tuberculosis. He has been unable to work for almost three years. Cuc's mother has been supporting their children as a cook. Her wages amount to 22 cents a day. She is obliged to live where she works.

Cuc, and her 13-year old brother, Vinh, and her father live in what was only the sleeping loft of their home, another family lives below. Cuc's family possessions are reduced to a cupboard, a folding chair, and a small place where their dead are prayerfully remembered.

This is the life of Cuc, whom you are so kindly "adopting" under PLAN. In this way you bring her a monthly cash grant of $8.00, food and clothing and special medical care. This is important to a child exposed to the risk of tuberculosis. Both children have great tenderness for their sick father, and wish their mother could live at home. Your generosity is nothing less than a miracle of help and hope for Cuc and all her family.

As the Corresponding Secretary of the House of Delegates it is my pleasure to correspond with VU THI CUC. If you would also like to correspond with VU THI CUC I can forward your letters to her. She is very interested in learning all about her friends in America, and is eager to hear from you. A yearbook is being sent to her, to acquaint her with the students of the college.

Sincerely,

Gregory Murtagh
